

Employment of a foreigner in the Republic of Belarus

Foreign citizens who are permanently residents can be employed under the same conditions as citizens of the Republic of Belarus, except for the activities related to belonging to the citizenship of the Republic of Belarus. That means, they do not require special work permits.

Foreign citizens who are temporarily staying max 90 days in one calendar year may, in exceptional cases, be invited to the Republic of Belarus for a period of max 90 days, for example, to give a course of lectures, to carry out installation of equipment or provide training services for the operational staff of the equipment and et. (Law of the Republic of Belarus “On External Labor Migration”).

Temporarily residing foreign citizens are employed on the grounds of a special permit.

Belarusian legislation allows to hire foreign workers upon condition of primary completion of certain administrative procedures and procurement of the appropriate permits:

- Special permit for the right to conduct labor activities in the Republic of Belarus.

The first step, both when obtaining permit for the attraction of foreign labor to the Republic of Belarus, and when obtaining special permits, is to provide information about the existence of vacant jobs to the district employment department where an employer organization is located.

The employer has the right to hire a foreign worker if the priority categories of workers (citizens of Belarus) do not respond to the vacancy or do not fit, for example, due to non-compliance with qualification requirements.
